To whom it may concern

Regarding the use of Hydrochlorotiazide in equines.

The drug is very commonly used in human medicine for people with heartproblems. It lowers the blood pressure, and acts against oedema. It is dispensed as tablets and most commonly combined with heart medicine. It has prior been used for animals, for the above mentioned indications.

It is excreted almost solely via the kidney and as much as 80 % of the original dose can be found in the urine.

There are no registered products for animals in Denmark. In the USA there is some products for oral use, they are often combined with corticosteroids.
